ATTACK

WILL BE MADE IN SENATE ON GOVERNMENT'S SHIP PURCHASE BILL

Which Democratic Leaders are Determined to Press for an Early General Debate.

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Jan. 11.—Senate leaders including Senator Fletcher, who is piloting the Government Ship Purchase bill through the Senate, are determined to press the measure for general debate. Although the shipping bill has been before the Senate several days as the unfinished business, barring the supply measures, but little progress has been made on it, the district appropriation bill already having consumed three days of debate.

Republican leaders in the Senate including Senators Root, Callahan, Lodge and Burton, who are opposing the shipping bill, are prepared to continue their attacks on the measure when it is called up for consideration.

The fact that but little progress has thus been made on the administration legislative program is causing the Democratic leaders considerable apprehension and they were more firmly determined than ever today to employ every possible parliamentary effort to expedite the program even to the extent of holding night sessions if necessary.

HEBRON

Owing to the new school building not being completed for the opening which was to have been January 4, the school board extended the time a week longer, hoping by January 11 all the rooms would be completed and the schools can resume their daily routine of work, occupying the new building, which is a beautiful structure and adds much to the beauty of the west end of the village. The auditorium at the building will not be completed for some time. However the teachers and pupils are making the best of the extended vacation and are having a delightful time.

The six o'clock dinner given on New Year's eve by the members and Bible school of Church of Christ at I. O. F. hall, was a delightful affair, and a decided success socially. Covers were laid for four hundred and they were surely banqueted in fine style, the menu cards reading as follows: Roast turkey, cranberry sauce, dressing, gravy, creamed potatoes, scalloped oysters, celery, pickles, brick ice cream, cake and coffee. After all had been served a fine program followed, and the old year passed rapidly out, while the New Year was welcomed in with the ringing of bells and sweet music. The out of town guests were: Prof. Roberts and wife of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Rose Wilson of Newark, Mrs. Indus Merriott of St. Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Kapp of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Jay Helser of Canton, Mrs. Mary Jones and Mrs. Robert Embury of Kiskersville, Mrs. Swisher and daughter of Millersport.

Mrs. Rose Reeb was hostess for the Priscilla club, Wednesday afternoon. Ten members responded to the roll call and two guests, Mrs. Myrtle Oldaker and Miss Lillian Reeb were present. The afternoon was devoted to needle work, and after the business session the social hour was seasoned with delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lucy Taylor.

Mrs. Sarah Weber and Miss Olive Weber are visiting friends at Chauncy, Ohio.

Mrs. Mary White and Mrs. Alice Cochran were guests of Mrs. D. P. Burch, Tuesday.

Miss Thelma Taggart is spending her vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taggart, near Kiskersville.

Miss Mary Geiger is clerking at the K. C. White store.

Mrs. E. Hatfield and son of Columbus are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tavenor.

Mrs. Nan Jennings returned to her home in Columbus, after a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Mary Lenley.

Mrs. Myrtle McGlade and son Hugh Boyd have returned home, after spending the holidays with friends at Gahana, O.

The funeral of Mr. Harry Hoskins, which was held at the Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon, was largely attended. Much sympathy is expressed by bereaved friends.

Mrs. Mary Boyland is visiting relatives in Lafayette, Ind.

Revival services at M. E. church are progressing nicely with a good attendance. There will be no evening services at Church of Christ for three Sunday evenings, owing to the meetings, giving everybody an opportunity to attend.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

ALASKA, SUBJECT OF PRESIDENTIAL CONFERENCE TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Jan. 11.—Problems involved in the construction of the government railroad to the Alaskan coal fields were up for consideration at a conference today at the White House between President Wilson and the Alaskan engineering commission. The proposed railroad was authorized by act of congress last year. The law provided for the construction at an expenditure of not more than $25,000,000 of not more than one thousand miles of railroad to connect Alaska's coal fields with the coast, the route to be selected by the President to whom was left many more important details. He is expected to settle all questions which must be decided when the actual work of construction is begun.

J. Pierpont Morgan has proposed to sell or lease the copper river and Northwestern Railroad, a line 196 miles long, connecting Cordova with Kennicott, for use as a part of the new railroad.

HERE'S PROOF.

A Newark Citizen Tells Of His Experience.

You have a right to doubt statements of people living far away but can you doubt Newark endorsement?

Read it: J. Donnelly, policeman, 19 West Harrison street, Newark, says: "For years I was a railroad and I believe that the jarring and jolting, together with exposure while sitting in the cab of the locomotive was responsible for my kidney trouble. I had pains across my back that nearly bent me double. My back gave out on me and if I bent over, I had a hard job to straighten up. The doctor who treated me said I had tuberculosis, but it remained for Doan's Kidney Pills to help me. Two boxes relieved me. I have never been without a box of Doan's Kidney Pills in my house."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Donnelly had. Foster-McBurn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SUFFRAGE

FOR WOMEN WILL OCCUPY THE ATTENTION OF THE HOUSE TOMORROW.

Supporters of a Constitutional Amendment To that Effect Crowding in Washington.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Jan. 11.—Supporters of woman's suffrage and opponents alike were arriving here today from throughout the country in readiness for the battle which has been staged for the house tomorrow when a vote will be taken on the resolution for a constitutional amendment making woman suffrage nation-wide. They will occupy seats in the visitors gallery during the debate on the resolution. Scenes of animation rivaling those during the debate and vote on the prohibition constitutional amendment recently are expected to be witnessed during the contest over the suffrage amendment. House leaders are planning for a flood of orators. The House will meet an hour earlier than usual with the intention of voting before adjournment.

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage and other members of the organization were jubilant today. They asserted that the resolution would be defeated by more than two-thirds majority. Champions of suffrage made no claims.

ANOTHER FIRE IN SUBWAY; WOODEN CAR IS BURNED

(Associated Press Telegram)

New York, Jan. 11.—The Lenox avenue line of the subway was out of commission for an hour and forty minutes early today because of another fire. Due to it is believed, to defective insulation, the cause of the fire and panic in the tube last Wednesday when one person met death and more than 200 were injured. Today's blaze was at 163rd street, where the tracks no longer in a tube, are high above the street. A car standing on the third track of the trestle was burned. It was a wooden car, similar to about 500 others that the public service commission ordered replaced with steel cars after the investigation of last week's accident. The car burned to the trucks within a few minutes.

(The man who'd count 7,000,000 eggs is certainly an odd fish!)

Shell Bursting In Front of British Cannon.

This is a striking photograph of the beginning of a battle scene in France. An English battery called into action was moving along one of the fine roads to be found all over France when the battle turned in that direction. In an instant the horses drawing the gun were unhitched and the driver started off to a place of safety. But before he had gone fifteen yards a German shell burst. Though the horses were trained to stand fire they were so startled they nearly broke away.

Fate of Four Conquerors.

Alexander, after looking down from the dizzy heights of his ambition upon a conquered world and weeping that there were no more to conquer, died of intoxication in a scene of debauch or, as some suppose, by poison mingled in his wine.

Hannibal, whose name carried terror to the heart of Rome itself, after having crossed the Alps and put to flight the armies of the mistress of the world, was driven from his country and died at last of poison administered by his own hands in a foreign land, unlamented and unwept.

Caesar, the conqueror of 800 cities and his temples bound with chaplets dipped in the blood of a million of his foes, was miserably assassinated by those he considered his nearest friends.

Bonaparte, whose mandate kings and emperors obeyed, after filling the earth with the terror of his name, closed his days in lonely banishment upon a barren rock in the midst of the Atlantic ocean.

An Indian Ghost Story.

Several years ago I had a studio in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and the walls of my reception rooms and office were hung with large photographs of Indians. One day I was visited by six men of the Navajo tribe who, after much smoking and visiting, made known the real cause of their call. Directly over my desk was a framed portrait of one of the old medicine men of their tribe, who had just died. Believing that a part of his soul was imprisoned in the portrait—else how could it look so like him?—they asked me if I would not destroy it, so that his spirit might be released and be at peace. I immediately took the print from the frame and tore it into bits while the men looked on with silent approval. After thanking me they each shook my hand in turn and filed quietly out of the room. They did not suspect that there might still be in existence other copies of the picture or a negative.—Karl Moon in Leslie's.

The Stone of Infamy.

In many Italian cities there formerly existed what was called "pietra d'infamia," or a stone of infamy for the punishment of bankrupts. In Venice one stands near the church of St. Mark, and in Verona and Florence they are near the old markets. In a day in carnival week the old time custom was to have all traders who had become bankrupt in the preceding twelve months led to the stone, and one by one each stood on its center to hear the reading of a report of his business failure and to endure the reproaches heaped on him by his creditors. At the end of a certain time each bankrupt was partly undressed, and three officers took hold of his shoulders and three others of his knees and, raising him as high as they could, bumped him on the stone deliberately twelve times "in honor of the twelve apostles." The creditors crowding like cocks while the bumping proceeded.

If time is money, it doesn't pay to lose time finding fault.

A WINTER TONIC

Why is it that some people keep well all winter while others, less exposed to cold and damp, suffer with colds, grip, pleurisy, pneumonia and all the ills of the season?

Thin blood and debility are the causes of much sickness in winter. When the blood is thin and there is oxygen starvation in the tissues of the body, poisons are released that should be eliminated and there is a lowered resistance to disease.

Rheumatism disappears when the blood is built up and does not return if the blood is kept rich.

The after-effects of grip are never cured until the blood is built up.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood and enable it to carry more oxygen, to nourish the starved tissues in debility, to soothe the inflamed membranes in rheumatism, to quiet the nerves in neuralgia and sciatica and to expel the lingering germs after the fever and influenza of grip have passed. All winter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be in every house, ready for use. You can get them now at the nearest drug store.

The third edition of the popular little book "Building Up the Blood" has just been published. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy.

COLUMBUS AUTO SHOW TO START JANUARY 30th

The upward trend of business activity is indicated by the announcement that Columbus is to have an automobile show from January 30 to February 8, greater in scope than any heretofore held in Central Ohio.

Columbus has an association of automobile dealers who do things in a big way and an auto club that goes the limit in enterprise—a combination that in this instance is going to do a big thing for the automobile industry in this part of the state.

Memorial hall is to be beautifully decorated and a well equipped cafe will be maintained for the convenience of visitors.

All the big automobile factories are going to co-operate with their agents by sending special show chassis and demonstrating parts along with factory experts to explain their cars in every detail.

The main floor will be given over to motor cars, from the modest priced runabout to the most costly limousine, while the lobbies and side-rooms will house the accessory exhibits.

Not a Pear.

Those who love to study human nature often derive as much pleasure from watching the people who visit picture galleries as they receive from the pictures themselves.

Two young women were looking at a picture in one of the art galleries entitled "His Only Pair." The artist has depicted a poor boy sitting up in bed while his hard working mother mends his only pair of trousers. The boy, although obliged to remain in bed while the repairs are in progress, is contentedly eating an orange.

One of the visitors evinced a special interest in the picture and gazed long and earnestly at it. Then, turning to her companion, remarked:

"His Only Pair! I don't call that a pear at all. It's an orange that he is eating."—Detroit Free Press.

Funerals in Peru.

According to social usage, women in Peru cannot attend funerals, and they do not appear at weddings unless they are very intimate friends. When a funeral procession passes through the streets the coffin is carried upon the shoulders of the pallbearers, who are followed by an empty hearse drawn by two, four or six horses, according to the means of the mourners and their desire for display. All the male members of the family and friends of the deceased follow on foot, with a line of empty carriages behind them. As long as they are in the presence of the dead it is considered a proper and necessary evidence of respect to walk. After the body has been committed to the grave those who attend the funeral are brought home in the carriages.

Never Again.

A man, who had been sick, told a friend that he was being treated by a certain physician.

"Don't you know," said the friend, "that that doctor allows all his patients to die on his hands?"

"Well, if he lets me die on his hands, I'll never patronize him again!" replied the other indignantly.—Indianapolis News.

PEACE MOVEMENT INAUGURATED BY WOMEN DELEGATES

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Jan. 11.—Plans were being worked out here today to nationalize the movement launched at a woman's mass meeting yesterday, under the auspices of the delegates to the woman's conference for peace, when a peace program was adopted looking to a practical solution of a means to end the war. Leaders in suffrage and peace movements in this country and abroad made addresses on peace.

It is proposed in the program to enlist all American women in arousing the nations to respect the sacredness of human life and to abolish war. The program then sets forth a means to this end. Features of the plan provide for the immediate calling of a convention of neutral nations in the interest of peace in Europe and the appointment of a commission by this government to promote international peace.

RISE

IN PRICE OF WHEAT RECENTLY TO BE INVESTIGATED BY FEDERAL INQUIRY.

District Attorney Will Determine If There Has Been "Food Cornering."

(Associated Press Telegram)

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Federal investigation into the present high price of wheat was to begin here today to determine whether speculation or attempted "food cornering" has had anything to do with the recent sensational rise in the market. Albert L. Hopkins, assistant United States district attorney, who is in charge of the inquiry was prepared to summons a long list of bakers, grainmen, grocers and commission merchants for examination. United States District Attorney Charles F. Clynne said that the investigation would be thorough.

The board of directors of the National Retail Butchers' and Grocers' Association was scheduled to meet today to consider the question of the effect of the wholesale prices on the middlemen.

Only 125 Convicts In South Carolina's Penitentiary Now

(Associated Press Telegram)

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 11.—Less than 125 prisoners are now in the state penitentiary here as the result of the large number recently pardoned or paroled by governor Cole Blease, it was made known today. Approximately 2,000 men remain in the county convict squads while there are 155 in the state reformatory.

The governor's action Saturday in granting full pardons to about 1,000 paroled convicts was for the purpose of restoring their citizenship. Available records indicate that the governor has granted clemency to 1,674 prisoners since he was inaugurated nearly four years ago. He will retire on January 19.

LARGEST MAP OF PANAMA CANAL UNDER INSPECTION

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, Jan. 11.—Members of the Isthmian Canal Commission had before them today for inspection what is said to be the largest relief map ever made, representing the Panama canal on a scale of one foot to a mile. The map which is 50 feet by 10 was completed by George Robertson of this city, to whom the contract for the work was given by the commission. It will shortly be shipped to the Panama-Pacific exposition.

The map is in the natural colors of the canal zone, aiming to give the impression one would get if from an aeroplane. Locks, buoys, range lights, breakwaters, even the Cucaracha slide in the Culebra are faithfully shown. Many larger buildings in the towns nearby are also represented. The only thing lacking in the model is the fortifications which will protect the canal, the disposition of these being, of course, a secret.

James M. Cox.
James M. Cox today surrendered the governorship of Ohio to Frank B. Willis, and with the change in the Columbus capitol comes a legislature pledged to undo much of the progressive work done during the Cox administration.

Governor Cox leaves Columbus to renew his editorial work at Dayton with the consciousness of having fulfilled every party promise that was made of having "kept the faith." A man of strong intellectual force, of physical vigor and untiring zeal Governor Cox brought about a new order of affairs in Ohio and the laws enacted during his administration will leave a lasting impress upon the state. Governor Cox's success in having the compulsory workmen's compensation law enacted, his success in his fight for good roads, for better schools, for modern prison methods, for better tax laws—these alone not to mention many other acts of great importance will cause James M. Cox to be remembered kindly by the people of Ohio. He has been an able, efficient and honest public servant having rendered conspicuous service both in Washington and Columbus. Governor Cox retires to private life at an early age, but, perhaps, he may be recalled. Who knows?

The New Governors
One of the events of the month is the inauguration of new governors in most of the states. It is commonly an occasion of some ceremony. Our democratic republic theoretically has little use for forms and ceremonies and symbols. Practically the American people like a splurge and demonstration. Most of the new governors go in surrounded with much gold lace, band music, and a general environment of tail-coats and high hats.
One of the most notable aspects of this office is the frequency with which it changes. Many states keep senators and representatives at Washington year after year. Joe Cannon, Champ Clark and Cabot Lodge have long been household words. But governors live amid the fierce heat of constant change.
Looking through a list of governors, dated but three years ago, the editor was surprised to find but seven out of the forty-eight who were the Censorship and Stupidity.

It is an odd thing that the most rigid press censorship of modern times is applied exactly when it can do the least good, and that it has been least intelligently applied in that belligerent country where a free press first developed and has flourished most. In days of slow communication the war correspondent was comparatively harmless. The telegraph made him dangerous; for what he wired from the front today would be in the enemy's hands tomorrow. Now, with aeroplanes and a network of field telephones, the enemy knows what is going on rather before the correspondent does, and he is again comparatively harmless. And it is just now that he is completely muzzled. Days after Liege had fallen the British public was given to understand that a few companies of Belgian gendarmes were holding the German army in check. Naturally recruiting was desultory. Instead of printing the grave events at the front the English newspapers were filled with stories of atrocities. The usefulness of the freest, most powerful press in Europe, as a means of national defense, has been crippled by a brass-buttoned censorship. If a censor is a necessity in war that shows again how ill war and civilization go together; for certainly censorship and stupidity are inseparable.—Saturday Evening Post.

Nevada Democrats.
The Democratic party in Nevada made the short ballot principle the main plank in its platform. Mr. Emmet D. Boyle, one of the Democratic candidates who advocated it in his primary campaign, was elected governor and is now planning to interest the legislators in his proposals.—Short Ballot Bulletin.

Attention Republicans.
We invite the attention of Republicans who are worrying about the awful results of a Democratic tariff to the report made by the New-York mayor's committee on unemployment. The sub-committee, which has been trying to ascertain how much unemployment there is, concludes that now, with a vast war disarranging the business of the whole world, the condition of unemployment is almost as acute as in the period of greatest depression in 1908. At that time there was no world war, no Democratic tariff; nothing but Theodore Roosevelt in the White House, Republican majorities in congress, and the Dingley tariff on the statute book.—Philadelphia Record.

Masters of Fate.
The history of the race is full of the service of lowly persons, who have been lifted to lofty achievements. Moses and David were taken from their flocks; Elisha from the plow, the disciples from their fishing nets. Bunyan was the tinker; Burritt, the blacksmith; Moody, the clerk; Grant, the tanner; Carey, the cobbler; Lincoln, the rail-splitter, and Billy Sunday the ball-player.—Christian Herald.

Driving Away Birds.
By shooting the birds and frightening them away with loud noises, many rural communities are finding themselves short of one of their chief attractions—bird-life. Such a condition of affairs is due solely to ignorance. Birds, as a rule, are the farmer's best friends. The injury they may do to small fruits and growing crops is more than compensated by their removal of worms and insect pests. In the biological survey included in ex-President Roosevelt's message to congress these facts were shown. It was found, on investigation, that there are 43 species of birds that prey upon cotton-boll weevil, 57 species that prey upon scale insects which attack fruit trees; cuckoos and orioles destroy leaf-eating caterpillars. Hawks and owls destroy grasshoppers and mice; woodpeckers, the larvae of wood-boring insects. It is proved conclusively that the great majority of birds are more of a help than an injury. It is no common sight, in the country, to see the body of a hawk or a crow nailed to the farmer's parlor door, while a mounted owl is often used as a household decoration.—Suburban Life.

Should Know Better.

SHOVELING COAL.

Shoveling coal, shoveling coal, into the furnace's crater-like hole! Thus goes the coin we so wearily earn, into the furnace to sizzle and burn; thus it's converted to ashes and smoke, and we keep shoveling, weeping and broke. Oh, it's a labor that tortures the soul, shoveling coal! "The house," says the wife, "is as cold as a barn," so I must emigrate, muttering "darn," down to the furnace, the which I must feed; it is a glutton, a demon of greed! Into its cavern I throw a large load—there goes the money I got for an ode! There goes the check that I got for a poem, boosting the joys of an evening at home! There goes the price of full many a scroll, shoveling coal, shoveling coal! Things that I need I'm not able to buy, I have shut down on the cake and the pie; most of my jewels are lying in soak, gone is the money for ashes and smoke; all I can earn, all the long winter through, goes in the furnace and then up the flue. Still says the frau, "it's as cold as a flue, up in the Arctic where polar bears grow." So all my song is of sorrow and dole, shoveling coal, shoveling coal!

"BUNCOMBE"

It Don't Always Pay to Be Skeptical.

When a newspaper writer and proof reader that works nights can feed himself out of dyspepsia, which most all that class suffer with, it is worth while to know the kind of food used.

This man says:
"Being a newspaper writer and proof reader, also a graduate in medicine as well, though of practicing, makes a combination that would produce a skeptic on the subject if anything would."

"Day after day I read the proof on the Grape-Nuts advertisements with the feeling that they were all 'buncombe.' All this time I was suffering from dyspepsia from the improper food I was eating at the restaurant."

"One day I saw a package of Grape-Nuts at the restaurant and tried some with cream. The food took my fancy at once. After a few lunches on it at midnight I noted an improvement in my feelings, and was able to work with less fatigue."

"I have used Grape-Nuts as a regular diet since then, and have improved greatly. The old dyspepsia and bad feelings that I thought were necessary adjuncts to night work disappeared, and I am able to do much more and better work with less effort than ever before."

"I was nearly ready to give up and seek health in some other walk in life but thanks to my change in diet I am now all right." "There's a Reason."

"Made In America"

Here is an American fashion created with the German cavalry uniform as the basis. It did not come from Germany and no German designer has the slightest knowledge of it, but was made in this country by American dressmakers, who recognize the tendency toward the military.

This costume of covert cloth, untrimmed but for its own cut and buttons of tan bone, will serve many purposes. Sufficiently elaborate for afternoon wear with appropriate accessories, it is also quite correct for a morning shopping tour, if worn with a tailored hat and with shoes and gloves to correspond.

A most attractive hat that will also serve many purposes is this of white faille clasque, with a soft crown and a curving coronet. Tan satin flowers and leaves are laid flat against the satin and outlined with tan silk stitching. A tan veil of figured mesh, which unfortunately shows in a solid black in the reproduction of the photograph, relieves the extreme severity of the hat and is equally smart when worn over the face or thrown back to fall over the shoulders.

It is almost superfluous to mention that the skirt is short, since at present all skirts are short and particularly so in a costume that at all suggests the military, as this one does. The jacket, fitting snugly above the waistline, is fastened with a row of tan buttons, below which a peplum of circular cut falls in deep points over the hips. The collar is of tan cloth, matched by a tiny bit of tan on the cuffs, above which tabs of the covert cloth are buttoned into place.

That her costume may be entirely complete, milady wears with this suit boots of patent leather, with tops of brown cloth, closely buttoned.

Spring Hill farm, Franklin township, very pleasantly entertained the following invited guests on Sunday, January 10th: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodard of Van Buren; Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Swartz and daughters, Misses Lulu and Milda of Riverside, Licking township.

End Came After a Long Illness of Brights Disease at Home in Maple Avenue.

William Henry Rinehart, ex-deputy sheriff of Licking county, died Sunday morning at 8 o'clock at his home, 437 Maple avenue, after an illness of ten weeks of Brights disease. His death, while not unexpected among his more intimate friends, caused a shock to his many acquaintances throughout the county. He had been in poor health for a year or more and often attended to the duties of his office when he would have been more comfortable at home.

He was a native of Licking county, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rinehart. He was born June 30, 1855, and was therefore past 59 years of age at the time of his death.

He was appointed deputy sheriff by Sheriff F. E. Slabaugh, when the latter was appointed to succeed William Linke in 1910. He served with Mr. Slabaugh during the remainder of the appointive term and when his chief was re-elected, he was retained as deputy, serving until last fall, when he became too ill to work. His term ended with that of Mr. Slabaugh last Monday, when Sheriff Swank assumed office.

Mr. Rinehart is survived by his wife and nine children. Two sisters also are left to mourn his death. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and of the First M. E. church of this city.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the M. E. church, Dr. L. C. Sparks officiating. Burial at Cedar Hill cemetery.

"Rube" Dickinson Killed While In Kansas City, Mo.

Local patrons of the Orpheum theatre some years ago who remember Walter S. "Rube" Dickinson, known as "the ex-justice of the peace," and the song which he made famous, "My Irene Is the Village Queen," will be pained to learn that he recently met death in Kansas City, when caught under a scaffold that fell from a hotel under construction. Dickinson had become quite a favorite in vaudeville and was playing on the big time of the Western Circuit. He had many friends in this city having played here three or four different times.

GETS $95 REAL MONEY FOR OLD WORTHLESS BILL

"The adventures of a $100 Bill," might form the basis of a "movie" film of interest. The fact that the $100 bill was issued by the defunct Confederate States of America makes the story none the less interesting and also explains how that much legal tender came to be in Newark.

The history of the bill, previous last Tuesday, has not been divulged but it appeared in this story at that time when it was tendered by three foreigners in a local store in payment for a purchase. It was rejected, the men pointed out to the police and the men arrested but turned loose later.

It next turned up in the local post office when it was presented in payment for a $100 money order to a new clerk. The fraud was discovered promptly by the postal officials, and the money order was returned.

Saturday night it appeared again in a Walnut street resort. The landlady was suspicious but after submitting it to the bartender in a nearby saloon, it was declared good and the man who presented it was given $95 in real United States money. When it was too late, the bill was found to be worthless.

Two of the men are being detained by the police but the man who showed the genuine bill which was worthless, is missing. Patrolman Harbaugh made a trip to Trinway Monday in an effort to apprehend him.

Sheriff Swank and Deputy Sheriff Legge have been busy for several days serving the mass of subpoenas for witnesses for the forty or fifty cases which will be heard by the jurors. Most of the cases are of minor importance, coming up from the courts of Mayor Bigbee, or the magistrates of the city and county.

Some of the jurors and court attaches took advantage of the adjournment and went to Columbus to attend the inaugural ceremonies. Beginning Tuesday morning, witnesses will be called before the jury rapidly. The large number of cases may keep the jury in session until the first of next week.

(PASTOR RUSSELL)

Providence, R. I., Jan. 10.—Pastor Russell delivered a very interesting discourse here today on the text, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." (Acts 26:28.) He said in part—

A Christian is a person who intelligently believes that he is by nature a sinner, that by Divine grace Jesus Christ the Righteous died for his sins, and that through faith in the atoning blood and obedience to the Redeemer's teachings he has become "a New Creature in Christ Jesus." For such, "Old things have passed away, and all things have become new." Such New Creatures are separate and distinct from all other members of the race. Instead of earthly aims, ambitions and hopes, theirs are Heavenly.

Getting Into Christ's Body. It is not sufficient that these should make the proper start of faith in Christ and full consecration to God's will and not their own will. It is incumbent upon them, after having made such a start and after having been begotten of the Holy Spirit, that they shall grow in grace, knowledge and love. (2 Peter 3:18.) This is styled "putting on Christ"; that is to say, adding the graces of character which God will accept and reward with association with the Lord Jesus Christ in His Kingdom. For these God has made provision of spiritual food in the Bible—"meat in due season for the Household of Faith." (Matthew 24:45.) These are represented as at first "babes in Christ," requiring "the milk of the Word," but if faithful gradually attaining full stature—"strong in the Lord and the power of His might."

Such spirit-begotten Christians must needs "fight a good fight"—not with others, but with themselves—overcoming the weaknesses and besetments of their own fallen flesh, the allurements of their environment and the wiles of the Adversary. Such are faithful in these respects: "the very Elect." The promise to them is that they shall have part in the Chief, or best, Resurrection, and thereafter be no longer humans, but spirit beings of the highest order—"partakers of the Divine nature." These in death are "sown in weakness," "in dishonor," human beings, but are raised from the dead "in glory," "in power," spirit beings—"1 Corinthians 15:43.

Jesus' promise to these overcomers reads, "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with Me in My Throne, even as I overcame and am set down with My Father in His Throne"—"I will give him power over the nations," etc. Again He says, "Blessed and holy are all those who have part in the Chief Resurrection: on such the Second Death hath no power, but they shall be priests unto God and unto Christ, and shall reign with Him a thousand years."—Rev. 2:21; 2:26; 20:6.

All Jesus' teachings are applicable to this special class; namely, those who become His disciples, His followers, His pupils. He did not assume to be a Teacher of the world, but merely of those who leave the world, sacrificing all to become His disciples. To these He said, "Ye are not of the world, even as I am not of the world." Again, "If the world hate you, ye know that it hated Me before it hated you." The great Teacher did not include the nominal church as His disciples, but rather counted them in with the world. In evidence of this, we note the fact that the world which persecuted Him was the Jewish nation, professing God's consecrated people; and that those who have persecuted the followers of Jesus have likewise been nominally people of God, but really of the world.

Duties, Rights and Privileges of Christians.

These are the Christians addressed by the Master, saying, "I say unto you, That ye resist not evil; but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man shall smite thee at law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain."—Matthew 5:39-42.

The thought of non-resistance is here, yet not to the extreme degree supposed by some. The turning of the other cheek, as illustrated by Jesus' own conduct, was a figurative expression, signifying the willingness to have both cheeks smitten rather than to do injury to another. Christians are to be law-abiding, whether they consider the laws just or unjust. If, therefore, the law deprive them of a coat, they are to yield it up. If it go still further and deprive them of their cloak, they are still to be non-resistant to the law, but submit to it with good grace, knowing that hereunto they were called.

Be it noted that neither the coat nor the cloak was to be given up upon demand merely, but only after the law, justly or unjustly, had so decreed. Similarly with respect to the compulsory walking of a mile, the Christian is not to submit himself to every whim of everybody; but, seeking to do the will of God, he is to go about his own business, unless the opposition to him amount to a compelling, and this compelling, under ordinary circumstances, would mean a legal compelling; for the protection of the laws of the land in which he lives may be sought to protect his rights and liberties, as St. Paul appealed to governors and kings.

Christians Live For the Future. Christians are to love their enemies in the same sense that God loves the world—sympathetically. They are not to love their enemies in the sense of affectionate love and tenderness, such as they bestow upon their families, friends and lovable persons. Their love for their enemies, as defined by Jesus, should be such as would lead them to feed their bitterest enemy if he were hungry, to clothe him if he were naked. They should not pray against their enemies, but for their enemies in the sense of wishing, desiring, for them enlightenment and true wisdom, which would turn them from being enemies and evil-doers, to make of them followers of Jesus or, at least, well-doers.

Christians are not to lay up for themselves treasures on earth; for they have renounced the earth and all hopes of a future life upon earth. Their walk in the footsteps of Jesus signifies that as He cast aside earthly ambitions, hopes and aims, so would they, taking instead the Heavenly ambitions, hopes and aims. In other words, they live for the future. This will not hinder them from the ordinary pursuits of life to the extent that may be necessary in "providing things honest in the sight of all men"—in providing for their families, etc. But, with these Christians, any overplus above life's necessities represents so much opportunity for serving the Lord and His Cause; and in so doing, these are laying up treasure in Heaven—a future reward.

This does not signify that they must live "from hand to mouth," nor that, if they have possessions, they must riotously distribute these to others. On the contrary, they are to seek in all things to have the mind of the Lord—to do God's will. God's mind is a sound mind; and these Christians, in seeking to do God's will, are said to have "the spirit of a sound mind." This dictates that they should live wisely and economically.

Christian Stewardship and Citizenship. To these Christians, everything that comes to them or that they possess by nature is considered a thing of God, because in becoming followers of Christ, they made a full consecration of their wills—their all—to God. Hence from that moment forward, these Christians are stewards of God's mercies—stewards of their time, their talents, their influence, their property, their all. According to the way they use their stewardship, investing their talents to the Master's praise, will be His commendation of them, as represented in the parable. Whether many talents are possessed or few, the commendation is to those who have done well, have been good and faithful in the use of their talents, not for self-aggrandizement or show, or worldly accumulations of treasure, but faithful in the service of God, showing forth His praises in the assisting of others and themselves to the knowing and doing of the Divine will.

Christians are to "lend, hoping for nothing in return," and not, as the world, merely to be willing to do good and to lend to those who would do as much or more in return. Christians are thus to illustrate the fact that they are children of the Highest, that they have been begotten of God, that they have His Holy Spirit and disposition, and that it is shining out more and more in their words and conduct as they grow in the character-likeness of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Christians are not to go to war. Their fight is not to be with carnal weapons, but with "the Sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God." They have the most powerful weapon known in the world for their warfare. This does not signify that they may not put bolts and bars upon their doors to prevent robbery. It does not signify that they may not call for police protection; for this is a thing they pay for in taxation and are entitled to according to the laws of the world. They may not claim of their own nation anything that an alien might not claim; but they may claim all that an alien may claim. Indeed, Christians are styled aliens, strangers, foreigners, so far as the present government of the world is concerned. Their citizenship, according to the Bible, is the Heavenly one, which they will fully enter into when they shall have shared the Chief Resurrection.

No Christian Nations. The Bible knows nothing of Christian nations or of a Christian world. The Bible puts the Christian as separate and distinct from the world and from all nations. Christians are a nation, or people, by themselves. "Ye are a Royal Priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people"—a people for a purpose. (1 Peter 2:9.) The term Christian nation comes from a serious doctrinal error which crept into the Church about 800 A. D. At that time Pope Leo III. began to recognize as Christian nations all the nations which recognized his Pontificate. The custom has prevailed and is still in vogue amongst Protestants and Catholics; but it is wholly unscriptural.

A Christian conscripted to the army or the navy would be "subject to the powers that be," and obeying the Master's words would go, as in Matthew 23:41: "Whosoever shall compel thee to go." The Christian compelled to enter the army or the navy might properly request service as a non-combatant in the Quartermaster's Department or in the Hospital Department; but if required to kill, he is to obey God rather than man, and not kill. He may comply with his orders to the extent of going into the trenches and being shot at, but no further.

Is it urged that such a view of Christianity would wreck our present civilization? We reply that nothing in the Bible implies that our civilization is Christian or that the Lord ever expected it to be Christian. God's time for saving the world from its sin and weakness has not yet come. The present is merely the time for calling, finding, testing and delivering the Elect. The Elect, when glorified, will constitute Messiah's Kingdom, and with Him will be empowered fully with spiritual control for the government of the entire world.

Then will come the time for the enlightenment and uplift and blessing of the whole world of mankind—the non-elect. Theirs will not be a blessing of the same kind that the Elect will secure, but a blessing which they will appreciate equally. The world's blessing and salvation will not signify a change of nature from human to spirit, but a Restoration to human perfection.—Acts 3:21-23.

What are today styled "Christian nations" are in the Bible styled "kingdoms of this world"; and their complete disintegration is Scripturally outlined as incidental to the establishment of God's glorious Kingdom under Messiah, for which we pray, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth, even as in Heaven."

Some may wonder how it ever came to pass that all the people of civilized lands are enumerated as Christians—except Jews and professed infidels. Statistics tell us that all the inhabitants of Italy are Christians; that more than ninety-nine per cent of the population of Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, etc., are Christians; and that the total number of Christians thus reckoned is nearly five hundred millions. Surely it is time that intelligent people realize that some great mistake has been made, and that more than ninety-nine per cent of these "Christians" make no pretense of being followers of Jesus.

The error arose in the now long ago When Pope Leo III. recognized a king as a Christian king and his kingdom as a Christian kingdom, he recognized that king's subjects as Christian. There we have the matter in a nutshell. The whole thing was a mistake. The king was not a Christian, did not know the meaning of Christianity and was not taught it. His kingdom was not a Christian kingdom, and his people were not Christians.

Meantime, here and there, obscured to the world, there have been true followers of the Lord Jesus Christ in every denomination. They have been out of accord generally with the great leaders of the church systems as well as with the political leaders of the world. It has been true of them as the Apostle wrote: "The world knoweth not me, not even as it knew Him not." (1 John 3:1.) The world does not yet know, understand or appreciate that the Church of Christ is not to be found in any one of the professed churches of various names—Roman, English, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, etc. The Church of Christ is composed exclusively of those who have made a covenant with the Lord through faith in the precious blood, who have been accepted of the Lord by the begetting of the Holy Spirit, and who are seeking to walk to the best of their ability in the footsteps of Jesus.—1 Peter 2:21.

Heaven, Hell and Purgatory. The theory that Christians only are saved from eternal torture has had much to do with the error of counting all civilized people Christians. The creeds save Christians only—Jews, Mohammedans, heathen, all go to Hell to roast eternally. Roman Catholics provide a Second Chance for members of their church, in Purgatory; and many Protestants hold to a Second Chance for the heathen who have never heard of Christ. All the while, however, the Bible declares for only one chance, but that a full one for every member of the human family.

The only chance offered during this Gospel Age is the opportunity of becoming a member of the Church—a true follower of Jesus. Such are to get the Heavenly inheritance, but not until the Resurrection. The remainder of the world will be offered an earthly future; and this offer will begin with the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom of a thousand years.

The Bible nowhere teaches that either saints or sinners pass to a conditional condition at death. The Bible declares that they all "sleep," and that the awakening time will be at the Second Coming of the Redeemer to establish His Kingdom. The First Resurrection will be the Church, and subsequently "every man in his own order." When once the fact is grasped that the Bible Hell is the grave—Sheol, Hades—then all is plain. The great Divinely arranged Purge, to last a thousand years, will be glorious. All the heathen and the ignorant, superstitious millions of Christians, who were taught to call themselves Christians, but who knew that they were not, will have the opportunity of coming to a knowledge of the true God and of His gracious provision for them.

PLANNING TO SEND MILLION POSTCARDS TO KAISER WILHELM

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Amsterdam (Via London) Jan. 11.—The Prussian ministry of state, according to a Berlin dispatch to the Telegraph, has issued a notice that "in view of the seriousness of the times the great public festivities, such as dinners, theatricals and dances should be postponed on the occasion of the forthcoming birthday of the Kaiser, January 27."

"On the other hand," the notice continues, "celebrations appropriate to the significance of the day are contemplated for all creeds."

The Cologne Gazette says that the Germans in Vienna are planning to send by post a million postcards bearing Emperor William's portrait, to the emperor on his birthday as a million-fold greeting. The Gazette deprecates the idea and hopes its purposes will abandon it.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Well-known local druggist says everybody is using old-time recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grand-mother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. # Review of Europe's War to Jan. 1

By Capt. GEORGE L. KILMER, Late U. S. V.

THE ceremony with which the nations sprang into the fray at the call to the world's war of 1914 has no parallel in modern history. It required nearly twenty years of Napoleon's aggressions to summon an alliance of hostile powers to the Battle of the Nations in 1813; in 1914 just a spark in a tinder box.

The tinder box was the "European situation," with its half century record of "war clouds," "grave crises," "diplomatic incidents," "armaments," "mobilizations" and local wars of the first class. The vital spark which set a continent on fire was a mere Balkan incident, like hundreds that have come before without arousing a shot generally and at the worst stirring up comparatively petty wars.

World politics lay underneath all, and the assassination in June of an Austrian heir apparent and little Serbia's spirited denial of responsibility merely started the usual Balkan blaze. The fact that fuel was at hand to make a conflagration in August had nothing to do with the Balkan muddle.

Austria, Germany, England and France each promptly announced that the fight was for individual existence. Judgment of their arguments and reasoning should be left for minds trained in the thought and language of diplomacy. The object of this review is to sketch the turning points in the war.

Belgium to Paris Campaign.

Across the route from Germany into France, via Belgium, lay the river Meuse and its tributary, the Sambre. At Liege, Belgium, the Belgian engineers had erected forts to dispute the crossing of Germans into Belgium and of French out of Belgium into Germany. Liege is less than twenty miles from the German border, and about twenty miles farther into Belgium, also on the Meuse, is Namur. Namur is about twenty miles from French soil, and here the Belgians had duplicated the Liege forts in order to bar the French from crossing Belgian soil and to bar Germans from proceeding into France, should they venture as far as Namur.

The forts facing the German border at Liege stubbornly resisted the German onslaught, but the works west of the river, having a bearing to the west.

were seen subdued. But the Germans captured the city on Aug. 6 before the forts on the east succumbed. Marching westward from Namur, always in the direction of the French border, which bears northwest and southeast, the invaders encountered the valiant Belgian army, left alone to put up a battle for its neighbors, without aid from these neighbors, and to the north, occupied Brussels, in the center of the kingdom, captured Antwerp, where the Belgian government and army took shelter, and pushed west as far as the channel coast.

This westward sweep of the Germans cleared their right flank of enemies in 1 was quick enough to cut off the left flank of British and French from the south and southeast. Brussels fell on Aug. 21, Namur on the 23d, and not until the latter date were the British and French across the border in order to succor the remnant of Belgian army, who stood with their backs to the French wall and their faces to France, on rushing feet. Time had been given to the Germans to clean up central and southern Belgium.

Forward by the Right Flank.

A campaign and on some respects to what followed may be traced into Russian Poland at Kalisch on Aug. 3, and a week later an Austrian column crossed from Galicia into Poland. On the 20th the Austrians won a battle at Krasnik and marched on to Lublin. To offset this menace in Poland Russia marched on Lemberg, in eastern Galicia, and also sent strong columns from Vilna and Warsaw into East Prussia, capturing Gumbinnen, Insterberg and Allenstein and threatening the strong post at Koenigsberg.

By the end of August the Russians had been expelled from the Koenigsberg region, but in the south they had forced the Austrians to abandon the Russian campaign by closing in on Lemberg. Early in September Lemberg fell and Galicia was annexed by Russia. By the middle of the month the Russians had been expelled from East Prussia with enormous losses, but the Austrians in the south were besieged at Przemyśl, having to give up Jaroslau, a neighboring railway center and feeder for the fortress.

Following the defeated Russians from Tannenberg, in East Prussia, the German General von Hindenburg ventured to the shores of the Niemen, in Russia, and on Sept. 25 was repulsed and hurled back into the Suwalki swamps and defeated on Oct. 3 at Augustowo. The first week in October the Germans and Austrians advanced from Cracow on the south, Kalisz in the center and Thorn in the north toward Warsaw, on the Vistula. The Vistula extends from Cracow through central Poland across East Prussia to the Baltic sea. It is everywhere unfordable, with no bridge north of the line of Warsaw and Plock.

The middle of October fighting raged all along the Vistula in Poland, and the German allies were at the gates of Warsaw. On the 18th they were checked and at the end of the month defeated on the Pilzha river and hurled back toward the Warthe and their own border.

Early in November Russians advanced on Cincow, expelled the foe from Kielce, Poland, forced the Austrians south of the San river, recaptured Jaroslau and returned to the siege of Przemyśl. In the north they again advanced on Koenigsberg, and raiding Cossacks even penetrated German territory in Silesia and Posen within twenty miles of the fortress of Thorn. Johannsburg, in East Prussia, was occupied by Russians on Nov. 11. This move the Germans countered by a column sent from Thorn, which on the 15th drove the Russians back through Soldau upon Plock.

Cracow, 200 miles southwest, and Koenigsberg, 200 miles north of Warsaw, are fortresses guarding the German rear when operating in Poland. With either of them in Russian hands German possession of the Warsaw region would be perilous. At this writing Austria holds Cracow firmly, and her ally is entrenched before Warsaw, in positions around Lodz and Lawicz, which were won in December by ventures which the Russians officially declared "unbelievable." Germans also held Koenigsberg.

The Naval End of the War Game.

Sea battles have been many, but nothing has been decided excepting the efficiency of a new armament. The world has waited twenty years for a test of the battleship in line of battle fighting. Even battle cruisers have not been put to supreme test.

In submarine warfare three British submarines, whose U-9 attacked and sank the German cruiser, and three German submarines, whose U-31 attacked and sank the British cruiser, have been the only ones to meet in action. Commenting on this and other triumphs of his submarines, the German admiral, Von Tirpitz, says, "Our success so far, however, hardly justifies the conclusion that big ships have become obsolete."

The purpose of a navy is to help armies win land battles. To this end warships may be used to protect and provisions or destroy ships of the enemy might turn the tide of the battle.

In the case of a surface action, the German admiral, Von Tirpitz, says, "Our success so far, however, hardly justifies the conclusion that big ships have become obsolete."

into Russian Poland at Kalisch on Aug. 3, and a week later an Austrian column crossed from Galicia into Poland. On the 20th the Austrians won a battle at Krasnik and marched on to Lublin. To offset this menace in Poland Russia marched on Lemberg, in eastern Galicia, and also sent strong columns from Vilna and Warsaw into East Prussia, capturing Gumbinnen, Insterberg and Allenstein and threatening the strong post at Koenigsberg.

By the end of August the Russians had been expelled from the Koenigsberg region, but in the south they had forced the Austrians to abandon the Russian campaign by closing in on Lemberg. Early in September Lemberg fell and Galicia was annexed by Russia. By the middle of the month the Russians had been expelled from East Prussia with enormous losses, but the Austrians in the south were besieged at Przemyśl, having to give up Jaroslau, a neighboring railway center and feeder for the fortress.

Following the defeated Russians from Tannenberg, in East Prussia, the German General von Hindenburg ventured to the shores of the Niemen, in Russia, and on Sept. 25 was repulsed and hurled back into the Suwalki swamps and defeated on Oct. 3 at Augustowo. The first week in October the Germans and Austrians advanced from Cracow on the south, Kalisz in the center and Thorn in the north toward Warsaw, on the Vistula. The Vistula extends from Cracow through central Poland across East Prussia to the Baltic sea. It is everywhere unfordable, with no bridge north of the line of Warsaw and Plock.

The middle of October fighting raged all along the Vistula in Poland, and the German allies were at the gates of Warsaw. On the 18th they were checked and at the end of the month defeated on the Pilzha river and hurled back toward the Warthe and their own border.

Early in November Russians advanced on Cincow, expelled the foe from Kielce, Poland, forced the Austrians south of the San river, recaptured Jaroslau and returned to the siege of Przemyśl. In the north they again advanced on Koenigsberg, and raiding Cossacks even penetrated German territory in Silesia and Posen within twenty miles of the fortress of Thorn. Johannsburg, in East Prussia, was occupied by Russians on Nov. 11. This move the Germans countered by a column sent from Thorn, which on the 15th drove the Russians back through Soldau upon Plock.

Cracow, 200 miles southwest, and Koenigsberg, 200 miles north of Warsaw, are fortresses guarding the German rear when operating in Poland. With either of them in Russian hands German possession of the Warsaw region would be perilous. At this writing Austria holds Cracow firmly, and her ally is entrenched before Warsaw, in positions around Lodz and Lawicz, which were won in December by ventures which the Russians officially declared "unbelievable." Germans also held Koenigsberg.

The Naval End of the War Game.

Sea battles have been many, but nothing has been decided excepting the efficiency of a new armament. The world has waited twenty years for a test of the battleship in line of battle fighting. Even battle cruisers have not been put to supreme test.

In submarine warfare three British submarines, whose U-9 attacked and sank the German cruiser, and three German submarines, whose U-31 attacked and sank the British cruiser, have been the only ones to meet in action. Commenting on this and other triumphs of his submarines, the German admiral, Von Tirpitz, says, "Our success so far, however, hardly justifies the conclusion that big ships have become obsolete."

in individual and aggregate strength. Had these been needed at home Germany strategy would have scored. But England could well afford to spare battleships and battle cruisers when their absence meant the recovery of her South American trade, the net result of the victory off the Falkland Islands on Dec. 8, victory which humbled the German flag on the high seas.

Phenomenal Battle Losses.
Trustworthy data as to the relative destructiveness of modern weapons will not be available until revised official reports are at hand. It is not shown by the history of the evolution of weapons that increased destructiveness follows increased efficiency. Relative increase or decrease can be proved only by percentages of the number hit in the number engaged. The percentage in recent wars has run as high as 80 per cent for small units and 40 to 50 for divisions of 6,000 to 7,000 men in single engagements.

In the European war there have been slaughters in spots. The civil war had them at Antietam, Gettysburg, Chancellorsville and Petersburg. A general should get adequate returns for his investment of lives; failure to do that makes war a slaughter and not a science.

Progress in contriving new ways to kill in recent years has led to new ways of protecting soldiers. It has even been argued that advance in protection has sped beyond advance in danger; that wars will now be decided by long range guns demolishing inanimate matter, with minimum exposure of human lives; a crash of metal rather than of flesh and bone.

Rifled cannon, shrapnel and grape and canister were the nineteenth century answer to the bayonet, which had doubled or trebled the death dealing power of the man behind the musket. The repeating rifle gave the individual man long range canister to answer the short range artillery canister. Later repeating rifle answered repeating rifle; then came the machine gun to drown both repeater and canister fire.

Modern Tactics Safer.
Increased deadliness of firing does not imply that the "windmills of death" known in the days of spear and battleaxe must return to the modern battlefield. In field artillery alone the bullet proof shield for gunners indicates the protective side in modern equipment. In the civil war when the infantryman's bayonet was outthought by canister from a field battery he took to cover and shot down the enemy's gunners and battery horses.

In the sixties the log rampart and shallow trench behind were the answer to shrapnel and bursting shell in a protracted fight like the Aisne-Yser line of 1914. A modern concealed trench is far ahead of logs and dirt rampart to protect men. Not alone devices for covering fighting men tend to minimize mortality, but tactics work for the same end. Rushes of dozens led by a sergeant carry forward under fire the thousands which formerly charged en masse.

Secretary of War Garrison says that it is much more difficult to kill men in battle nowadays than in general warfare. Medical reports of the Russo-Japanese war, he says, show that out of every hundred casualties 83 per cent were caused by bullets; also that in that war it took 10,000 bullets to kill one man. Another authority says that it took 1,033 rifle shots to put one Japanese out of the fight in 1904, whereas in the Franco-Prussian war in 1870 one bullet in every 375 found its mark.

Next to bullets come artillery shots in effectiveness. In 1870 it required eighty French shots, weight 600 pounds, to disable one German, but in 1904 150 shots, weight nearly one ton, were fired to disable one Russian.

Appalling accounts of slaughter, especially of Germans, have been given, but at their worst Gork-Tepi in the Russo-Turkish war of 1881 leads in carnage. With breechloaders 1,000 Russians slew 8,000 Turks in one hour. Dead battle lines have been reported in the western zone. The writer saw one such at Antietam in 1862 when General Hooker's guns to the number of thirty swept with canister a thirty acre field of standing corn screening a Confederate line of battle. In his official report Hooker said, "In the time I am writing every stalk of corn in the northern and greater part of the field was cut as closely as could be done with a knife." Along the northern fence of that field lay, well aligned, over a thousand dead in gray.

Prisoners Counted in Losses.
It appears from analysis of reports of losses in Europe that when given in gross for any battle or campaign the prisoners are included among the "missing." Where the classes are separated, as in the English and German reports, the ratio of killed to wounded does not suggest carnage of slaughter. In the Belgium to Paris campaign in August and September the total for the British was about 34,000. October to December, in western Belgium, the record was about 50,000. The British originally mustered 140,000 strong; increased later to 300,000 total. Its loss of 84,000 amounts to 28 per cent.

The French and Belgians also lost 50,000 in western Belgium out of approximately 300,000. The allies estimated the Germans in Belgium at 500,000 and doubtless wouldn't own to superior numbers opposed, therefore their losses of 100,000 may be computed on 500,000 or less, hence at least 20 per cent.

Russians report "heavy losses" by Germans in their frontal attacks before Warsaw in December and name 20,000 as a safe aggregate. Elsewhere they place the German strength at 600,000. If so the loss was but little over 3 per cent, which is insignificant for a series of battles. Assuming that only 100,000 men were involved, the loss was 20 per cent, therefore not phenomenal.

Military Lessons.
The old and very obvious lesson that the belligerent which can move forces and supplies along interior lines has the advantage has been demonstrated anew in 1914. Germany may have lost her grip upon Paris the first week in September because Russia was pounding at her back door within the border of East Prussia. But she saved Berlin by being able to rush troops by rail from her western to the eastern border.

The machine gun once more justifies the enthusiasm of its early advocates. The modern idea is, it is true, that infantry should not be pushed against a line in blocks or masses. But it will happen that a leader will suppose that a position which he covets is but lightly defended or has been half subjected by long range artillery firing. Thinking that a rush will carry the day, he sends his men in, and that is the time for the machine gun to sow the field in front with bullets.

The massive cannon, in which Germany seems to have the lead, has often shown its capacity in practice.

Hospital Meeting.

A joint meeting of the board of managers and trustees of the Newark Hospital will be held this evening at 7 o'clock on the third floor of the Trust building.

Slightly Improved.

Mr. G. A. Warrington of Woods

New Year's eve, is a little better at this writing.

Ice Skating Good.

Scores of Newarkites journeyed to Buckeye Lake, Sunday, via of trolley and auto, and enjoyed excellent skating. The ice is as smooth as glass over the entire lake's surface; is 10 to 12 inches thick, and as clear as a crystal. Skaters had a full sweep of 10 miles along both shores of the lake. A great number of persons were also present from Columbus to enjoy the sport.

Flock to Columbus.

A number of local politicians journeyed to Columbus, Sunday, to mix with the crowd of state celebrities in the various hotel lobbies. It is said that at the Neil House, Sunday afternoon, one had to stand on the outside and wait until someone made room by leaving before admittance could be gained.

Closed the Schools.

The public schools of Loudenville have been closed on account of an epidemic of smallpox. This city has been very fortunate as not a single case of smallpox has been reported in the past six months. The health department has been very vigilant in its efforts in that direction.

Plenty of Ice.

The waters of a number of streams and creeks over the country have been at a high-water stage for several days the past week. The water demic.

A Heavy Fog.

One of our local weather prognosticators states that a fog in January means a frost on the same date in May. If that is the case there will one of the heaviest fogs ever seen in the city visited this city Saturday night. It will be interesting to note whether a frost is recorded on May 9.

So well are the liquor laws being observed by Newark liquor dealers that those desiring a drink on Sun-their liquor. Sometime Sunday, the born brewery was broken, the door opened and entrance gained to the

the case containing the fine liquors

NEWARK MAN CURED
OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Tells Fellow Townsfolk How Wonderful Result Was Accomplished

Mrs. C. T. Boomer of 40 Western Ave., Newark, Ohio, says: "One of my family was bothered with a severe case of kidney trouble for over a year. His back pained him so bad at times that he could hardly stand it. He got so very nervous that it was impossible to get any rest at night and he would have to get up four or five times. It was impossible for him to control the kidney secretions. Nothing seemed to give him any relief and he kept getting worse. Finally Lloyd's Kidney & Rheumatism Tablets the new scientific prescription, came to his attention and he decided to try them. He is now glad that he did as his trouble has left him entirely and he is now a well man. He has gained 7-12 pounds in four weeks. Lloyd's certainly cured him."

SORORITY.

Week of Prayer to be Observed by Denison University—Society and General News.

Granville, O., Jan. 11.—On Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the Cliff club, a local musical organization of girls for the promotion of musical interest and culture, was initiated into Delta Omicron, a national musical honorary sorority of the highest standing. The installation ceremony was held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Johnson (Marion Rose) in West Elm street, and was conducted by officials of Delta Omicron, the grand president, Miss Edna Silverster of Detroit, Mich., the grand secretary, Miss Myram Lutz of Columbus, teacher, and a student in the Cincinnati Conservatory; and the first grand president of the sorority, Mrs. J. A. McClure of Columbus. Following the impressive installation, the visitors and the nineteen members of the newly created "Delta Chapter of Delta Omicron" were seated at small tables and served with a four course dinner by the hostess. The Cliff club was organized two years ago and has been trying to raise the standard of musical taste and achievement among the young people. No one has been admitted to membership who has not had at least one year's theoretical work in the conservatory, and most of the members are conscientious and hardworking, all of them being competent to contribute to the high class programs of the club. The president is Miss Eva Wright of Granville, whose musical compositions have received flattering notices from Dean Eschman. Following is the list of the Proctor Victor Hoppe in his reading,

"The Other Wise Man" Sunday evening at the Methodist church, was greeted by a large and appreciative audience. "The Other Wise Man" while too somber for a popular program, is one of Mr. Hoppe's most masterly interpretations, and one which conveys a moral in most acceptable guise.

The active members of Kappa Phi sorority gave a delightful reception to the new girls of Shepleydon college, o'clock. Alumnae of the sorority, and the country, the congregation will be a large one.

Rev. Millard Brelsford and his family are now living in the Baptist parsonage at the corner of Mulberry street and Broadway where they are ready to receive their friends. The pastor, whose mornings are reserved for study and afternoon devoted to pastoral work, has reserved Thursday afternoons from 3 to 5:30 to receive those who wish to see him at home.

Musical club, of which Mrs. M. E. Stek-

Spreewald Costumes.

In the Spreewald, that Holland of Germany, where the streets are streams and the people pole up and down the shallow, winding canals,
the inhabitants of the old costume, and in their little colony, although there are differences in headdress and the number of petticoats, the ancient custom is followed exactly. The most important thing is the petticoats.
There is one on top of another, layer after layer, and the more petticoats the richer and finer the maid. Over the top skirt comes an elaborate apron carrying embroidery in many colors, and this, like the changes with the occasion—now in for the week days and work, now elaborate and trimmed with lace for Sundays and fete days.
The women of the most part go barefoot when they work in the damp fields and down the shallow streams in their flat bottomed punts, and Sunday is the only day that they put on stock shoes, white, thick ones, and the sun starved caps, with broad white wings and long lace streamers.

POULTRY SHOW
IN DECEMBER
NEXT SEASON

At a meeting of the members of the Newark Fanciers' Association at the poultry show in the Armory, Saturday night, a vote was taken on the date of next season's exhibition.
While it was not decided definitely, the second week in December was tentatively selected for the date of the show. Eight new members of the association were added during the show.

Exhibitors, particularly those from out of the city, expressed themselves as highly pleased with the manner in which the 1915 Newark show was conducted. The premiums were paid Saturday night, and after the show closed the exhibitors were permitted to remove their stock.

The show this year was declared by officials to be the best in point of attendance and number of birds exhibited that has been held in Newark in years. All exhibitors expressed themselves as pleased with the new plan of making the awards by comparison, rather than on points.

One breeder, who had birds on exhibition, said that the Newark show ranked fourth in number of exhibits and attendance among Ohio cities, barring the big cities like Cleveland,
Toledo and Columbus.

In the association's contest for boys, George Barr of 3 Shamp Court, was awarded a pair of single-comb Buff Orpingtons for selling the largest number of single admission tickets. Roger Stouffer of 296 East Main street, was awarded second prize—a pair of single-comb Buff Leghorns. He sold 59 tickets.
Stouffer and Barr sold 60 tickets and were donated by Charles Shuckhart and B. F. Kent, respectively.

INFANTICIDE

JUST AS POPULAR NOW AS IN PILATE'S TIME, SAYS DR.
KOEHNE.

Lecturer Greeted by Two Good Audiences Sunday—Talks Continue This Week.

That the civilization of today harbors as much, if not more, vice and corruption as that of the time of Pilate, was the contention made Sunday evening by Dr. John B. Koehne, in his lecture on "The Personality of Jesus of Nazareth," at the First Presbyterian church.

"Infanticide is as popular today as it was in the time of Pilate," declared Dr. Koehne in the life and customs of the Romans of the period of Pilate with the civilization of the twentieth century.

Six converts stood up at the close of Sunday night's service to be united with the church. Dr. Koehne, who has been lecturing on the personality of Jesus of Nazareth, is to continue his series of lectures on the personality of Jesus of Nazareth, at the First Presbyterian church, at 10 o'clock Sunday.

Using the various questions propounded to Jesus by Pilate, Dr. Koehne proved that the Bible could not be explained intellectually, that is, no one could prove by fact or figure the mysterious ways of the Creator, nor the teachings of the Christ.

As an example he took the third question, "Whence art thou?" asked of Jesus by Pilate. He said that to this question Jesus returned no answer, and so it is, no mere mortal has been able to prove life love or death intellectually, each of these three great elements in the law of the universe must be experienced.

Dr. Koehne in proving the truth of the resurrection said that the writings of the New Testament could not have been forged and in working out his case he compared Shakespeare, who he declared, to be the greatest human creator of character with the four apostles, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, and showed that, while Shakespeare had never been able to create an ideal man, it was not possible for the four apostles to create one ideal character and have their writings so accurate.

"If all religions are divided, that is, if the writings of each do not agree on the truth of its teachings, then Christianity has no more authority over your conscience, will or thought than has your Sunday newspaper," declared Dr. John B. Koehne in his lecture Sunday morning on "The Resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth," at the First Presbyterian church.

That the parliament of religions, fostered by Dr. Barrows during the time of the World's Fair at Chicago, was directly responsible for the spread of skepticism, was an argument used by Dr. Koehne to prove that liberalism was not in accord with the teachings of the Bible. He said that the parliament of religion was a pretense of skepticism.

"Christianity stands or falls," said Dr. Koehne in quoting a statement made by Strauss, the greatest skeptic of the nineteenth century, by the respect of Christ, or as Strauss says: "The belief of the resurrection is the very heart of Christianity, and with the truth of it Christianity stands or falls."

In presenting his proof of the truth of the New Testament accounts of the life, preaching, the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth, Dr. Koehne took the writings of the various apostles, showed wherein they agreed and where they were at variance in their accounts.

much the same as a lawyer would present the facts in a case, with a skill and judgment very seldom evidenced by a member of the clergy.

"While two of the apostles do not agree in detail on the birth of Jesus and two do not agree on the Sermon on the Mount, they all agree on the resurrection," he declared, "so it is all agree on the details and vary as to the facts on the details but do agree as to the facts the resurrection is confirmed."

Dr. Koehne contended that practically every prophecy of the Old Testament was fulfilled in the crucifixion of Jesus in even the minor details. To many earnest Bible students, the doctor pointed out details Sunday morning that had escaped their notice and as a woman in the audience said at the conclusion of the lecture, "I have learned many wonderful truths in regard to the New Testament this morning."

"The resurrection does not mean immortality," declared Dr. Koehne, in closing, "for the Lord has said, heaven and earth shall pass away. The resurrection does not mean, as some of the lodges teach, that we will go right up from this earth."

SHOW THAT CORPORATIONS PAID MORE TO STATE IN 1914 THAN PREVIOUS YEAR

Grand Duplicate Was Increased Nearly a Billion Dollars—Amendments Proposed.

Columbus, Jan. 11.—Corporations paid the sum of $2,431,943 in franchise and excise taxes into the general revenue fund of the state in 1914, as compared to $2,145,901 the previous year according to the annual report of the tax commission of Ohio which filed with Governor Cox today. The increase in 1914 amounts to $286,042.

Last year 12,500 domestic corporations as compared to 11,830 the previous year. The number of foreign corporations reporting last year was 1,028 as against 956 the year before. From domestic corporations $1,884,495 was collected in 1914 and 547,508 from foreign concerns operating in Ohio.

The grand tax duplicate of the state was increased $863,253.28 last year, the figures for the year being $1,582,324.97 as against $699,068.69, the total of the state grand duplicate for 1913.

The commission recommended the strengthening of the Smith tax rate limitation law, by an amendment which will give power to reduce tax rates to the actual needs of a district regardless of the maximum rate limitations. In many cases, it was found this year the district taxing officials were levying up to the maximum limit, although that would provide more money than was needed.

It was also recommended that "more teeth" be put into the tax laws so as to enable assessors to get at hidden intangible property. There was a big increase this year in the taxable value of this class of property amounting to more than half a billion dollars, but the commission points out that there is much more to be placed on the duplicate.

The recommendation was made that the form of budgets be simplified and that local taxing officials be compelled to set forth in these budgets the purposes to which their requests for money are to be put.

BRITISH

tially all the principles of international law cited in the American note officials reiterated today that the chief difficulty had been England's neglect to make her actual practice square with the previously accepted rules of international law.

It is realized by officials here that a long diplomatic correspondence concerning the principles of the American case, but not actually carrying them into practice will not meet the complaints of American exporters and shippers, and although England's supplementary answer is expected to give a more detailed statement of her positions, officials plan to take up vigorously all individual cases which may meanwhile arise.

Officials are keenly appreciative of the friendly tone of the British note and of the promises it makes for redress in case of unwarranted injury to American commerce. They point out, however, that the note in its citation of statistics did not take up one of the chief points of the American argument. The British statistics were brought forward to argue that American commerce with neutral countries had not suffered as seriously as had been represented, but administration officials here contend that one of the chief points of the American protest was to show that the American position was to be determined by the British practices. The American note, they said, was framed with the very idea of forestalling destruction of American trade.

Figures cited in the British note in view of officials here are misleading because much of the non-contraband goods which ordinarily go direct to Germany and Austria has really been shipped to neutral countries because of the scarcity of ships that would dare risk passage through mine fields to German ports.

Similarly, the desire of Germany and Austria to use all surplus production has deprived contiguous countries of many raw materials which they now are compelled to import from the United States.

Such increases in total exports from the United States officials here say, would conceal the real injury to some American industries because of their unhampered growth in trade with individual countries.

England's statement that out of 775 ships which proceeded from the United States to neutral countries in Europe since the outbreak of the war only 107 were lost and her cargoes piled in the ports themselves had been taken into consideration was regarded by officials here as a serious mistake. They said that the British note had only 45 doubtful cases. There is no mention made in the British note of the other half of the large number of American ships which were detained some of them for two weeks for extended examination.

In the next communication which the United States will send to England is a rejoinder that the British view that ships must be taken into ports for examination instead of being searched on the high seas, is expected to be vigorously disputed. There is some doubt not infrequently expressed here among officials of whether the practice of the British first practically blockading the high seas instead of German ports themselves is not contrary to the fundamental principles of a blockade.

It is not unlikely that before the American reply is finally sent the the American note concerning unwarranted interference with American shipping, are unanimous in calling attention to Great Britain's declaration of gratitude to the United States for her desire to repay it by interfering with American trade as little as is necessary to secure the safety of this country and her allies.

The papers take ground that the foreign secretary's facts and figures unless they can be explained or rebutted, prove that enormous supplies have been reached the enemy under cover of neutral trade. The West-minster Gazette says:

"A beligerent is guarding his own interests. No obligation rests upon a neutral to help a belligerent or to prevent the contribution of contraband to the war effort. The United States, but in dealing with a friendly neutral we can in a variety of ways consult his convenience and the people of the United States may be assured that we will do whatever necessary to mitigate the state of war to them."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Foreign Secretary Grey's reply was the just what every Briton will approve. Through his stomach, but seldom through his head, the British government has warmly desired the friendship of the United States, but who also is determined that no British weapon shall be sheathed which can be used to bring the war to a speedy and successful conclusion."

The Globe expresses the opinion that Sir Edward Grey's frank and friendly reply goes in some directions even further toward meeting the wishes of the United States than some of us think prudent. The Globe suggests that the principal band has arisen through the change of the question of contraband in the American practice and the present prohibition of the publication of ships manifest until 30 days after the vessels left American ports. In this connection the papers say: "If the consequent detention is increased and prohibitions to American merchant and military ships to the remedy in its own hands."
